

INTERNAL AFFAIRS INVESTIGATIONS

MCPHERSON, KS

FBI-LEEDA's Internal Affairs Investigations course is focused on best practices related to effective internal control mechanisms to promote enhanced agency accountability in our current environment of police reform. Consideration of the investigation, adjudication, discipline and arbitration/litigation phases of disciplinary matters makes the course relevant to more than just internal affairs investigators. Supervisors, managers and command staff in all government disciplines will benefit from the comprehensive overview of administrative subject matter that the course offers.

Treatment of attendee's primary authorities, such as statutory bill of rights and other authorities is emphasized, making the instruction relevant and pertinent. The presentation addresses policies and procedures, effective complaint processes, investigation of personnel complaints, administrative law, and more.
